

Caregivers' Roadshow

A Psychoeducation Programme by IMH Medical Social Work

Loving Hearts, Beautiful Minds

Programme Description

Caring for someone with mental illness is often challenging for families, relatives and friends. Caregivers are concerned about their loved ones but are often angry, frustrated, and fearful in their caregiving journey due to a lack of knowledge and skills to manage their loved ones' mental illness.

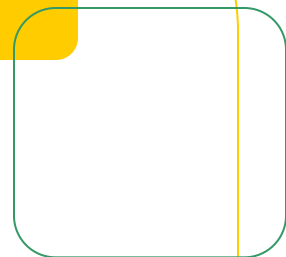

Research has shown that when caregivers find appropriate support and are equipped with the knowledge and skills to manage their loved ones' mental illness, they are better able to help their loved ones cope and improve with treatment.
